The Writing Place

Do you need help with your academic writing?
Do you have an essay/project/assignment due?
Are you having difficulty with your tutorials?

If you answered yes to any of these questions then the Writing Place is for you!

The Writing Place assists students from the College of Humanities with academic writing skills through an emphasis on essay/assignment structure & understanding of academic concepts. Post graduate tutors will work through a draft of your essay; help you understand the question and constructing a coherent argument. Tutors will also suggest how structure and grammar can be improved. Correct referencing techniques and plagiarism challenges are also explained.

Tutors also host various academic writing workshops throughout the semester. See drop-in centre for dates and topics.

Where: Tutors are located in the Basement of Old Main Building, Room B4

How: Undergrad students from the College of Humanities should take a typed, completed draft of their essay/assignment including the question and notes (3 days before due date) and go directly to the drop-in centre.

Times: Monday to Thursday

10:00 to 12:00 and 13:00 to 15:00
